DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE DIRECTIVE NO. 1/___

SECURITY POLICY CONCERNING TRAVEL AND ASSIGNMENT OF PERSONNEL WITH ACCESS TO SENSITIVE COMPARTMENTED
INFORMATION

(Effective _____ 1976)

1. General

Pursuant to the statutory responsibilities of the Director of Central Intelligence and the Provisions of Executive Order 11905, and for the purpose of protecting intelligence sources and methods, the following minimum controls are established concerning assignment and travel of U.S. personnel who have, or who have had access to Sensitive Compartmented Information (SCI). These controls are applicable to U.S. Government civilian and military personnel, government consultants, and employees of government contractors.

2. Purpose

This policy is based upon the need to protect SCI from possible compromise resulting from the capture, interrogation, exploitation or entrapment of personnel (stipulated in para. 1 above) by hostile or unfriendly nations.

d. Risk of Capture Briefings. Risk of capture briefings are formal advisories which alert personnel as to what may be expected in the way of attempts to force or trick them to divulge classified information if captured or detained and of suggested courses of action they should follow to avoid or limit such divulgence. These advisories include instructions/advice for advance preparation of innocuous, alternative explanations of duties and background.

e. Senior Intelligence Officers. Within the meaning of this policy directive, Senior Intelligence Officers (SIO) are those officials representing their individual departments and agencies on the USIB, including the Military Department Intelligence Chiefs.

4. Responsibilities

a. Participation in hazardous activities. The criterion for restricting an individual from participating in hazardous activities is:

- . The degree of his knowledge of sensitive compartmented information (especially intelligence sources and methods); and
- . The advantage which could accrue to any foreign country, through ability to institute protective countermeasures resulting from disclosure of that individual's knowledge.

(3) Institution of positive programs for the collection of information in reports obtained under the provisions of Paragraph 5. c. (6) below and other means as feasible.

(4) Insuring that new information obtained by their departments or agencies on harassments or provocations, or on risk of capture situations, is provided to the DCI and to other interested USIB agencies. (Where warranted by new information, changes to Appendix A will be made.) Recommendations with supporting justification may be made for either addition or deletion of countries.

5. Policy - The following policy is established for hazardous activities:

a. Information on individuals with knowledge of sensitive compartmented information will be maintained by the SIOs. The SIOs will identify such individuals within their organizations who have particular depth of knowledge and access and have their files flagged accordingly. Such individuals will be so notified and advised of possible restrictions. The scope of these files also includes names of contractor personnel whose access to sensitive compartmented information is maintained by the responsible SIO.

b. Unofficial travel - While U.S. citizens are not restricted by U.S. laws from traveling in foreign countries, persons indoctrinated for
